Message from the Chief of Police:

In a democratic society, the ultimate responsibility for peace, good order and law observance rests with the community of citizens of that society. The complexity of modern societies usually dictates that policing efforts be coordinated and directed by a force of paid professionals who derive their power from the public they serve. The role of the professional police officer is to supplement and aid community efforts, not to supplant them.

Peacekeeping and observance of the law must be a joint police/community effort in order to succeed. The fundamental mission of the Salisbury Police Department is to provide the professional leadership and professional support required to sustain and improve the community's efforts to become free of crime and disorder.

To members of the public, the police officer they encounter in their daily lives is the police department. Officers who are competent, polite and caring will positively influence citizens and will cause them to develop confidence in and respect for their police department. For this reason the Salisbury Police Department reaffirms its view that one of the basic and continuing responsibilities of every member of this organization is to strengthen the affinity between the public and the police service.

In keeping with this philosophy the following principles are considered basic to the understanding of the role of the Salisbury Police Department.

- To engage in activities that reduce crime and disorder and enhance the quality of life for the citizens;
- To recognize that the power of the police to fulfill their functions and duties is dependent on the public approval of their existence, actions and behavior, and on their ability to secure and maintain public respect; and
- To seek and preserve a positive relationship with the public by constantly providing fair and equitable service and enforcement of all laws without regard to personal opinion about individual laws; by the ready offering of professional service and consideration to all members of the public; by the ready exercise of courtesy, and by the ready offering of individual sacrifice in protecting and preserving life.

Mark Wilhelm, Chief of Police
Salisbury Police Department

AUTHORITY FOR POLICE POWERS:

The Salisbury Police Department is organized under authority of the Charter of the City of Salisbury. The Chief of Police is the administrative head of the Police Department and serves as authorized in North Carolina General Statute 160A-28l.

The Chief of Police, and each officer of the Department, shall have the powers and authority vested in peace officers as authorized by the General Statutes of North Carolina. Such powers and authority are granted for the purpose of enforcing North Carolina State Laws and Salisbury City Ordinances, preserving the peace of the City, suppressing disturbances, preventing crimes, and apprehending offenders.

Such powers, duties and authority may be exercised within the corporate limits of the City of Salisbury, one (1) mile beyond the corporate limits, within any property or right-of-way owned by the City whether it be located within or without the corporate limits.

An officer may arrest persons outside the corporate limits and outside the City's extraterritorial jurisdiction when the person has committed an offense within that territory for which the officer could have arrested the person, and the arrest is made during such person's immediate and continuous flight from that territory. Any officer pursuing an offender outside the corporate limits or extraterritorial jurisdiction of the City shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and benefits to which the officer would be entitled to if acting within the City.

The Police Department is an executive branch of municipal government for the City of Salisbury, established by city ordinance. Functions assigned to the Police Department are: 1) prevention and detection of criminal activity; 2) apprehension of offenders; 3) protection of life and property; 4) enforcement of laws and ordinances; and 5) provision of other services that may be deemed proper functions of a police agency.

The Department shall be organized with such operational and support units as may be established by the Chief of Police for the purpose of achieving the objectives of the police function. The authorized personnel strength of the Department shall not exceed that authorized by the City Manager. Department personnel and resources shall be organized in a manner that ensures maximum efficiency and effectiveness at minimal cost. It is essential that the organizational structure be relevant and flexible, and that a constant and continuing program of inspections and evaluations is established to ensure that the needs of the Department and the citizens of Salisbury are met.

THE POLICE MISSION STATEMENT

To be a police officer is a noble endeavor. It is a profession that encompasses a multitude of challenges, and requires a like number of talents to meet those demands. The mission of the Police Department is profound because of its breadth, significance, and complexity. It is a diverse service that requires significant knowledge and skills and a unique authority. This service includes protecting the constitutional rights of citizens, preventing and controlling crime, apprehending offenders, aiding citizens in hazardous situations, facilitating traffic, resolving conflict, and maintaining order.

The primary mission of the Department is to preserve the peace and order of the community through conflict management and enforcement of law. This mission requires officers, who are committed to the rule of law and have the unique authority to investigate, arrest, search, seize, use reasonable and necessary force, and charge persons with violations of the law.

Policing, however, goes beyond simply enforcing laws. The Police Department is seen as a provider of service to the community that grants the authority and reason to exist. Police Officers are often called upon to do those things that others will not or cannot do. The Police Department is often the agency of last resort. There must be a moral philosophy and strong appreciation of the need for service in the police profession. Unwavering belief in such a philosophy will earn for officers the respect and support of the public that is essential to complete the mission.

A police officer's life is one of sacrifice and ideals, based upon the responsibilities entrusted to him by the community. An officer accepts the challenge to defend the innocent, protect the weak, and aid the distressed, and to do so without fear, favor or prejudice. Rigid adherence to those principles set out in the Law Enforcement Code of Ethics is mandatory for anyone accepting a position in the Salisbury Police Department.

Civilian employees of the Police Department share honor and status with sworn officers. Thus, It is required that civilian employees possess the same devotion to duty and to accept similar responsibilities. All members of the Department should be proud to hold a position that demands so much.
